Figure 2.3. The Green's formula method applied to a two–dimensional bubble with an initial surface perturbation (e=0.01, f=18). An apparent Rayleigh–Taylor instability occurs splitting the bubble into a number of parts, as the method breaks down.